ANNOUNCEMENT

The Iowa State Fair Board takes pleasure in dedicating this seventy-sixth annual Iowa State Fair and Exposition to the opening of a new quarter of a century of agricultural and industrial progress and achievement in the midwest.

As the Diamond Jubilee Fair of last year fittingly commemorated three-quarters of a century of Iowa development, so the 1930 State Fair points the way to the future progress in store for the Commonwealth.

Over 300 acres of exhibit space has been set aside this year for displays typifying all the leading interests and activities of Iowa. The State Fair has been called "The Show Window of the State," and the Board feels that this year, as never before, it justifies this appellation. In this connection, the Exposition wishes to pay special tribute to the loyal and enthusiastic work of the Farm Bureau, Farmers' Union, Boys and Girls' 4-H Clubs, Iowa State College, State University, State Federation of Women's Clubs, leading manufacturers, livestock breeders, and other individuals and organizations who have played such a large part in bringing together this 1930 display of Iowa's wealth, industry, and resources.

In the pages which follow is a summary of the leading features of the 1930 State Fair and a helpful guide to assist visitors in locating those departments in which they are particularly interested.

NATIONAL LIVESTOCK SHOW.

The Iowa State Fair this year amply lives up to its reputation as the world's greatest livestock and agricultural fair. With livestock premiums of more than $80,000 and with over 6,000 head of horses, cattle, swine and sheep assembled on the grounds, the exposition presents to visitors this summer the greatest assemblage of fine stock that has ever been seen on a fair grounds in North America. Judging of livestock classes will be in progress almost continuously from August 22 through August 28, with free seating accommodations for the public in the Livestock Pavilion. The Fair Board directs particular attention also to the prize baby beeves and heifers raised by boy and girl farmers of the state that are on display in the Baby Beef Barn. In this same area boys and girls' pigs are shown in the Swine Pavilion, lambs in the Sheep Barn, colts in the Horse Barn, and poultry in the Poultry Building. The Boys and Girls' Livestock Show at the 1930 State Fair is the largest 4-H Club show of its kind ever held in the United States, with more than 1,600 entries by boy and girl farmers of Iowa.

A. R. COREY, DES MOINES.
Secretary Iowa State Fair and Exposition.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Special attention is called to the "Iowa Farm Leadership Exposition" which is an outstanding feature in the Agricultural Building. Almost every type of agricultural product grown in Iowa, and almost every section of the state, is represented in this huge display. The exhibits by county farm bureaus, showing the leading projects which they have been carrying on in 1930, and the county group exhibits of prize grains and produce are particularly worthy of attention and study. The Midwest Dairy Exhibit and the statewide Horticultural Show are also featured in this building. Although not directly connected with the subject of agriculture, the displays of culinary art and pantry stores are located on the south balcony of the Agricultural Building. From Friday, August 22, through Sunday, August 24, this building will also house the national show of the American Gladiolus Society, said to be the largest floral exposition in the United States. This promises one of the most gorgeous sights ever witnessed at the fair, with tens of thousands of blooms massed on both floors of the building.

FARM BUREAU.

As in past years, the Farm Bureau, together with other leading farm organizations, plays an important part in the exhibits and programs at the 1930 Iowa State Fair. Thirty-seven county farm bureaus have brought to the fair displays presenting the important projects which they have been carrying on during the last twelve months. The seven projects of the men's farm bureaus are housed in special booths on the ground floor of the Agricultural Building, and the thirty projects of the women's farm bureaus are located in the Women and Children's Building. The outstanding feature of farm bureau activities in connection with the fair, is the special Farm Bureau Day program held in the Assembly Tent east of the Stock Pavilion on Monday, August 25. This program is featured by the appearance of Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, who will discuss policies of the Board with relation to agriculture at the afternoon session. The morning meeting will mark the presentation of awards to the Champion Farm Women from each county and each congressional district, following a statewide search which has been conducted this year in co-operation with the Des Moines Register. As in past years, a special Farm Bureau camp ground is situated just inside the Poultry Building entrance to the main camp, with individual areas set aside for members from each county in the state. A general Farm Bureau headquarters for members is also maintained throughout the Fair in a tent just east of the Livestock Pavilion.

FARMERS' UNION.

The Iowa Farmers' Union will hold "open house" to its members and friends throughout the period of the Fair in a special exhibit building, 42 by 120 feet, located just east of the Fish and Game Building on Grand Avenue. A number of interesting displays will be found in this building, and farmers are invited to stop in and make the acquaintance of officers and directors of the Farmers' Union while attending the Fair. A special section of the free camp ground has also been set aside for Farmers' Union members, in the tract located just east of the Grand Avenue entrance to the main camp. All members of the Farmers' Union are urged to make full use of this camp ground free of charge.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE EXHIBITS

Due to the success of the first series of Vocational Agriculture exhibits at last year's State Fair, a second series is presented this year, on the second floor of the Educational Building. Five project booths are included in the display, under the supervision of the Vocational Agriculture Department of five of the leading schools of the state. Students and instructors in Vocational Agriculture are invited to make their headquarters at these booths while attending the Fair.

EDUCATIONAL EXPOSITION.

A large portion of the new $500,000 Educational Building is again given over to a statewide exhibit showing the work being done in all the leading universities, colleges, public and private schools of the state. On the ground floor of this building are exhibits by the State University, Iowa State College, State Teachers' College, State Board of Control, School for the Blind, School for the Deaf, Highway Commission, and Boys and Girls' 4-H Clubs. On the second floor are located exhibits by all types of public schools throughout Iowa, leading independent and denominational colleges, and a number of welfare institutions.

ART EXHIBIT.

The Educational Building also houses on the second floor the annual statewide Art Exposition, embracing the works of many of the state's painters and designers, both amateur and professional. In conjunction with this is shown the special North Shore Artists' Loan Exhibit, comprising the canvases of some of the nation's foremost painters. This entire display is open to the public throughout the period of the Fair.

INDUSTRIAL AND MACHINERY SHOW.

More than forty acres of the latest types of farm machinery and home conveniences have been assembled from all parts of the country and are on exhibition to the public in the annual Industrial and Machinery Show which is located south of Grand Avenue, just inside the Grand Avenue entrance. Although this exhibit places special emphasis on farm equipment, it also comprises scores of new household conveniences, as well as trucks, tractors, and various items of heavy machinery. It offers an ideal opportunity to the person considering the purchase of new equipment, as first-hand comparison may be made of numerous competing makes of products in actual operation.

MIDSEASON MOTOR SHOW.

In Machinery Hall, which is the hub of the machinery exposition, is housed the annual Mid-Season Motor Show, embracing many of the newest 1930-31 creations of the nation's foremost automobile manufacturers. Due to the numerous improvements which have been made in cars during the last six months, this show should prove particularly interesting and attractive to visitors at the 1930 Fair.

IOWA WILD LIFE EXHIBIT.

The exhibit of fish and game native to Iowa, which in the last several years has become one of the most popular features of the Fair, will be found again this summer in the beautiful Fish and Game Building at the north side of Grand avenue, just inside the Grand Avenue entrance. More than 5,000 living fish are housed in the special aquariums, while in the adjoining pens and cages are shown numerous bird and animal families typical of the wild life of the state. Moving picture programs will be presented each day, showing the work which the Fish and Game Department is doing to conserve Iowa wild life and to build up our fish and game preserves.

STATE BOARD OF CONTROL.

Special attention is called to the exhibit of the Iowa State Board of Control on the ground floor of the Educational Building, presenting examples of the work being carried on by fifteen different institutions operated by this department of our state government. Another exhibit of particular interest to livestock breeders is the Board of Control herd of dairy cattle from Iowa hospitals and welfare institutions which is being shown in the Cattle Barn.

BOYS AND GIRLS' 4-H CLUB CONGRESS.

Iowa again sets a record this year by holding at the 1930 Iowa State Fair the largest Boys and Girls' Club Congress to be presented by any state in the union. With over 2,000 junior farmers participating and over $15,000 in cash premiums offered, the 4-H Club features of the Fair will be in progress continuously from August 21 through August 29. In the livestock department more than 1,600 head have been entered by junior farmers, the largest junior stock show ever held in the United States. In the special Boys and Girls' Club section on the ground floor of the Educational Building, demonstration contests are in progress continuously each morning and afternoon in all the principal fields of club work. Boys and Girls' judging contests are scheduled during the early days of the Fair in the Livestock Pavilion and are open to the public free of charge. Boys and Girls' baby beeves, calves, pigs, lambs, colts and poultry are housed in the respective barns devoted to these departments. Due to the continued increase in entries in this branch of the exposition, the Fair Board this year has provided two additional dormitory buildings with space for an additional 200 girls and an additional 125 boys. Housing facilities in these dormitories are provided free of charge to club participants while the Fair is in progress, and contestants are boarded at the special Club Dining Hall at actual cost. Selected members of the Boys' Club will again have charge of ushering in the grandstand this season.

JUDGING EVENTS.

Judging in all the principal livestock classes will be in progress each day, and the public is invited to witness any and all of these events. Free seating accommodations are provided both in the Livestock Pavilion and in the open-air judging ring west of the brick horse barn. Boys and girls' livestock is judged on Friday and Saturday, August 22 and 23. Judging in the open classes begins on Monday, August 25, continuing through Thursday, August 28. Horses are judged in the morning and cattle in the afternoon in the Stock Pavilion. Swine judging is in progress both mornings and afternoons in the Swine Barn, and sheep in the Sheep Barn. Judging of poultry classes takes place on Friday, August 22, and Saturday, August 23, in the Poultry Building. The agricultural classes and other departments will be judged in the respective buildings where these exhibits are located. Society Horse Show classes are judged on the evenings of August 25, 26, 27, and 28 in the Stock Pavilion. A few special show horse events and the general pony classes are judged in the open-air ring near the street car entrance.

IOWA STATE COLLEGE EXHIBIT.

Many of the most interesting types of work in the field of agricultural and commercial research now being carried on by Iowa State College are represented in the State College exhibit on the ground floor of the Educational Building. Special attention this year is given to the subject of commercial uses of corn stalks and the subject of pottery as a potential

Iowa industry. The display as a whole embraces exhibits by the departments of engineering, zoology, home economics, and other leading branches at Ames.

UNIVERSITY OF IOWA.

Recent scientific discoveries, and the principal branches of learning represented at the State University at Iowa City, are featured in the University of Iowa exhibit on the ground floor of the Educational Building. Among other things professors will demonstrate the unusual properties of liquid air, the detailed operation of a modern hydro-electric plant, the improvements which have been made in modern dentistry, the way in which patients are cared for in the University Hospital, and the preparation of pharmaceutical products now widely used. A feature will be the famous mountain lion group from the Natural Science Museum at Iowa City.

IOWA STATE TEACHERS' COLLEGE.

A special headquarters for Iowa educators will be maintained throughout the Fair at the Iowa State Teachers' College exhibit on the ground floor of the Educational Building. This exhibit will present a display of the leading types of work now carried on at Cedar Falls and will be particularly interesting to parents, teachers, and those who may be contemplating entering the teaching profession.

IOWA WOMEN'S EXPOSITION.

All the subjects which are especially interesting to women are represented this summer in the statewide Women's Exposition which occupies two of the largest buildings on the fair grounds—the Women and Children's Building and the Exposition Building. This department of the Fair is under the direct sponsorship of the Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs, the Iowa Farm Bureau, the Parent-Teachers' Association, and other representative groups. The Women and Children's Building houses the thirty exhibits by women's county farm bureaus, the Iowa Baby Health Contest, the State Department of Health Exhibit and the women's auditorium in which are presented each day Little Theatre plays, artistic dances, home economics demonstrations, recreational lectures, style show, and similar events. The displays of fancy work, sewing, interior decoration, home furnishing and hand-painted china are located in the Exposition Building. Entries in the culinary and canning competition are housed on the south balcony of the Agricultural Building. For the convenience of women visitors, quiet rest rooms and comfortable porches are available in the Women's Building throughout the period of the Fair, and a special day nursery is maintained here, where children may be left in the care of competent nurses. Attention is also invited to the display by the State Library Commission on the second floor of the Women's Building, featuring the Iowa Traveling Library and other services of this institution.

NATIONAL AIR SHOW.

The Iowa State Fair takes pleasure in presenting this summer one of the largest air shows ever held in the west. This comprises both a ground show and a series of aerial features which will be in progress each day from August 22 through August 29. The ground show will be staged in a large tent northeast of the race track, adjoining the aviation field. It comprises in reality an aerial pageant of progress showing widely varied makes and types of planes, ranging from the first 1910 Curtiss pusher type ship to the 300-mile-an-hour Travelair "Mystery" ship—the fastest commercial plane now built in this country. Other interesting exhibits will include a giant tri-motored Ford plane, the new "Fledgeling" which recently won the United States Navy speed test, the famous Voepel glider, a radio-controlled plane, and numerous other models of all sizes. The aerial show embodies such thrilling and unusual features as the Three Flying Sons O'Guns who take off, perform difficult evolutions in the air, and land again with their three planes tied together by ropes; stunt flying of a 1910 Curtiss plane; demonstration of the 300-mile-an-hour "Mystery" Ship; looping the loop with a glider; multiple parachute leaps by as many as four and six men from a tri-motored Ford plane, which will also be "stunted" in front of the grandstand. The program is climaxed by air races in front of the grandstand, with nationally famous pilots competing.

5,000-VOICE CHOIR.

Another new and unusual feature of the 1930 State Fair is the mammoth choir of 5,000 voices which appears on the program in front of the grandstand Sunday afternoon and evening, August 24. This is the largest choir of its kind ever assembled in the midwest, and consists of 5,000 boys and girls assembled from the rural schools of Iowa. These children have been trained by means of identical phonograph records and assemble at the Fair without previous rehearsal to present these two unusual concerts.

HOOVER COTTAGE.

Due to its widespread popularity last summer, the replica of Herbert Hoover's birthplace on the plaza is opened to the public again this year throughout the period of the Fair. Mollie Brown Carran of West Branch,

TEAM PULLING CONTEST.

The Iowa State Fair again offers $500 in cash prizes for the champion draft teams of Iowa, in a statewide pulling contest to be held on Monday and Tuesday, August 25 and 26. The contest will take place on the pulling field south of the street car entrance. Free seating accommodations for more than 2,000 spectators are provided on each side of the field. This contest is jointly sponsored by Iowa State Fair, the Horse Association of America, and Iowa State College.

IOWA CHECKER TOURNAMENT.

On Monday and Tuesday, August 25 and 26, the State Fair management sponsors a 1930 Statewide Checker Meet, open to any player in Iowa. Sixty dollars in cash prizes will be awarded to the winners in this tournament. The play will take place on the veranda of the Administration Building, and the public is invited to view the event while it is in progress.

HORSESHOE PITCHING TOURNAMENT.

This event again promises to be one of the most interesting and popular features of the Fair, and special seating accommodations have been provided by the Fair management to accommodate the large crowds expected to witness the competition. The tournament opens on Monday afternoon, August 25, and will continue through Wednesday, August 27. The pitching courts are located immediately north of the Horse Barn.

OLD FIDDLERS' CONTEST.

The statewide Old Fiddlers' Contest takes place this year on Friday, August 22, and Saturday, August 23, in the Assembly Tent east of the Stock Pavilion. Any old fiddler in Iowa who is 50 years of age or over is eligible to participate. The general public is cordially invited to attend and witness this event.

IOWA STATE FAIR CAMP.

One hundred acres of beautiful wooded land is set aside by the Fair management exclusively for those who wish to camp out during the period of the exposition. This tract is situated immediately east of the main fair grounds and is provided with special camp entrances and exits connecting directly with the fair proper. All possible conveniences, such as city water service, sanitary facilities, electric lights, store, police and fire protection, are provided for campers. The entire area is open to visitors free of charge throughout the period of the Fair. Those who do not bring their own camping equipment may obtain tents and other necessities from special warehouses located adjoining the camp ground entrance on Grand Avenue.

INFORMATION.

Special information booths are maintained on the grounds for the convenience of the public throughout the period of the Exposition. General information headquarters are located in the Administration Building at the corner of Rock Island and Grand Avenue. This building also houses the general offices of the Fair, the headquarters for department superintendents and the press bureau. The Des Moines Chamber of Commerce and the Des Moines Automobile Club maintain an additional information bureau just west of the Administration Building on Grand Avenue where visitors may obtain facts concerning the city of Des Moines and highway information for the state of Iowa.

STATEWIDE MEETINGS.

Special attention is called to the following statewide meetings which are to be held at the Iowa State Fair during the progress of the exposition this year:

Iowa Farm Bureau in Assembly Tent, Monday, August 25.

County Agents' Conference, Sale Ring, Cattle Barn, Monday evening, August 25.

RACING PROGRAM.

The Iowa State Fair this year again lives up to its reputation for some of the finest and fastest races in the west. The afternoon programs are featured by five days of horse racing and two days of auto racing. In the horse racing events, over three hundred fast trotters, pacers and running horses have been entered to compete for the $20,000 in purses which will be raced for on August 23, 25, 26, 27 and 28. In the two days of auto races, August 22 and 29, many of the country's foremost dirt track stars will contend for the big money being offered. Entries include such famous names as Emory Collins, Canadian dirt track champion; Gus Schroeder who has won fame for Iowa in recent national meets, and George Lyons, famous California champion.

CIRCUS AND HIPPODROME

Augmenting the afternoon and evening amphitheatre programs, the Iowa State Fair presents the largest and most spectacular circus and hippodrome program in its history. Fifteen different attractions from the leading hippodromes of America and Europe have been brought to the Fair this year, comprising clowns, trapeze performers, trained elephants, gymnasts, and all the other favorites of the sawdust ring. A complete hippodrome show is included as a part of the grandstand program each afternoon and each evening.

MUSIC FESTIVAL

A total of nine different musical organizations, bringing together one of the most varied music programs assembled in Iowa in recent years, will provide entertainment throughout the exposition grounds during the period of the 1930 State Fair. Headlining this music festival is Bohumir Kryl, internationally known conductor and cornetist, with his famous concert band of 50 pieces, accompanied by Ablee Stewart, soprano, and Marcus Kellerman, baritone. Other famous organizations appearing at the Fair include Argonne Post Band, Murray Family Orchestra, Richards' Concert Band, Lybarger Farm Bureau Orchestra, Old Soldiers' Drum Corps, Hamilton County 4-H Club Band, Springborn Girls' Orchestra, and the Knoxville Legion Drum and Bugle Corps.

MUSIC DAY.

The climax of the Music Festival for the 1930 Iowa State Fair occurs on Sunday, August 24, which has been designated as "Music Day". The program for the day will be featured by both afternoon and evening concerts, in front of the Grandstand, on the Plaza, and in the Livestock Pavilion. The highlight of the afternoon and evening events will be the appearance in front of the grandstand of the 5,000 voice Iowa rural school chorus, presented through the sponsorship of the Fair Board, the Iowa Department of Public Instruction, and the State Teachers' College at Cedar Falls, in co-operation with rural schools throughout the state. Due to the many favorable comments received last year as a result of the new policy of leaving the main exhibit buildings open to the public on Sunday afternoon, the Fair Board has decided to open them on Sunday again this year. The Women's Building, Exposition Building, Machinery Hall, Educational Building the Fish and Game Building, and the livestock barns will be open from 1 to 6 p. m. The Agricultural Building housing the National Gladiolus show will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

SOCIETY HORSE SHOW.

Premiums of more than $10,000 will be paid this year in the four evenings of Society Horse Shows to be held in the Livestock Pavilion, August 25, 26, 27, and 28. Many of the country's best known show horse stables are represented in the entries this summer, promising the keenest of competition and unusually interesting classes on each of the four evenings. Doors for the Society Horse Show will open at 7 p. m., and the show proper will begin at 7:30. A grand parade of prize-winning livestock precedes the main show events each evening, and the program is interspersed by music furnished by Argonne Post Band.

CAPTIVE WHALE

On the plaza between the Administration Building and Machinery Hall is situated one of the most interesting educational exhibits brought to the Fair in recent years—a mammoth 65-ton blue sulphur bottom whale, together with an 18-ton baby whale. These two whales, captured in the Pacific and shipped to the Iowa State Fair especially for this exhibit, are on display in a railroad car with glass sides which is open at all hours of the day. The exhibit is accompanied by Captain Harry S. White, veteran seaman and retired master of a whaling vessel, who will give interesting lectures each day, describing his experiences and telling of the methods used by present-day whaling expeditions.

MIDWAY SHOWS

Forty carloads of interesting side-shows and unusual riding devices have been assembled on a Greater Midway at the 1930 State Fair. This brilliant entertainment zone is situated on the north end of Rock Island Avenue, across Grand Avenue from the Administration Building.

"THE AWAKENING"

Produced by

Thearle-Duffield Fireworks Co. and Barnes-Carruthers Fair Booking Ass'n.

In front of Grandstand each night, August 22-28, inclusive.

The story concerns certain major changes in the history of mankind and a prophet's vision of the future. Each change is considered an awakening, hence the name of the story.

Between each episode a striking and original presentation will take place, each one in its own way representing an awakening of jazz, skill, humor and entertainment. Even animals will help add to the splendid educational and entertainment value of the production.

Episode I.

The production opens with the awakening of life—the story of Adam and Eve. It pictures Eve being evolved from the rib of Adam—the awakening of feminine influence. It pictures the awakening of Evil through the story of the snake and the subsequent driving out of humankind from the Garden of Eden.

Episode II.

In the second episode we find Evil dominating the life of Rome, with Nero drunk, leading an orgy in his court. The orgy is interrupted by a girl and a group of a new sect called Christians who cry out their songs and chorus against the iniquities of Roman civilization. This personifies the awakening of Christianity which even the sentence of death to its adherents does not destroy. After they are dragged to their doom, the revels of the drunken court exceed all bounds as maidens dance a wild bacchanal dance before Nero.

Episode III.

In the third set the scene opens with an Indian buck and maiden doing a primitive dance on top of a massive tom-tom, symbolic of their domination of the new world. This is followed by a tribal dance of Indian maidens which is interrupted by the sound of cannons announcing the arrival of Columbus' ships—the awakening of a New World. This scene closes with a striking tableau of Columbus, Spanish soldiers, priests and Indians marveling at the type of civilization each race represents.

Episode IV.

In episode four we find the new world represented by the colonies, beginning their struggle for independence. Betsy Ross designs a flag, symbolic of the awakening of independence, and presents it to George Washington. The acceptance of this flag is celebrated by a minuet ballet. The scene closes with a rollicking song of freedom.

Episode V.

In episode five again we find evil coming into the world—through the medium of slavery. The scene opens with negroes, in spite of their slavery, singing gayly to the river. Their irrepressible spirit is shown by their dances. After their frolic comes a sober moment when, through the medium of a negro spiritual, they cry out for freedom and their cry is answered by Abraham Lincoln with the statement that "all men are born equal," who knocks the shackles from their arms—thus comes the awakening of freedom. Generals Grant and Lee and their staffs then enter and the scene closes with a tableau of beauty symbolizing that "together we stand—divided we fall."

Episode VI.

In episode six again we find the spirit of evil dominating the world with an awakening of the spirit of jazz, unrest and laxity of living. The scene opens with three men, representing these three destructive spirits in an adagio dance throwing around unmercifully the spirit of beauty. After the spirit of beauty is crushed the people throw themselves into an orgy of abandonment with a group of girls, each representing the spirit of jazz and the spirit of beauty, doing a unique ballet number where the spirit of jazz in each individual conquers the spirit of beauty, and so with all restraint gone the people of the world abandon themselves to a tempestuous life, and then comes the awakening of the Heavens against the spirit that must be destroyed. This awakening of the Heavens is portrayed by the greatest fireworks display ever seen.

STATE RURAL SCHOOL CHORUS.

The State Rural School Chorus is composed of rural school pupils from grades four to eight inclusive who have accurately learned the fifteen songs listed on this program.

Rural school choirs have been organized upon a county-wide plan in sixty-nine counties of the state. Systematic daily work tested with the talking machine has been followed throughout the year. Any rural school pupil within the grades mentioned who has accurately learned the songs is eligible to membership in his Rural School Choir, also the County Rural School Chorus and this State Rural School Chorus.

It is estimated that six thousand, seven hundred rural school teachers and more than one hundred thousand rural school pupils in country schools in Iowa have been reached by this simple systematic plan of music instruction throughout the past year.

The music is taught by means of the phonograph. The pupil first listens to the song sung by the talking machine artist. He then begins to sing the simple and easier phrases. Finally, he sings the entire song. Lastly, he is tested by standing before the phonograph and singing accurately with the talking machine artist.

By means of a simple chart, every county superintendent effectively supervises the progress and accomplishment of each pupil in music throughout the year.

Every pupil who has passed the tests for the entire fifteen songs receives a certificate of membership in this State Rural School Chorus from Miss Agnes Samuelson, Superintendent of Public Instruction for Iowa. This work has been under the direct supervision of Miss Jessie M. Parker, of the Rural Division of the Department of Public Instruction.
